

Yesterday Today: Bronze Age Connections in a Modern World

Provisional Programme

Friday 18th October		Draft Title
Experimental archaeology
13:00	Registration/ Coffee
13:45	Introduction
14:00	Linda Hurcombe	The archaeology of experiment
14:40	Michele Philippe	Reconstructing the 'Agnata'
15:20	Coffee
15:40	Robert Van De Noort	Building 'Morgawr', a full-scale Bronze Age-type sewn-plank boat
16:20	Richard Darrah	Recreating the shape of the Dover Bronze Age Boat
17:00	Close
Saturday 19th October
Changing Seascapes
09:00	Registration/ Coffee
09:45	Martin Bates	Prehistoric flooding and landscape change in the estuaries of southern England
10:25	Murielle Meurisse-Fort	The changing coastline of France and the Low Countries
11:05	Coffee
11:25	Fraser Sturt	New Research on Doggerland
12:05	Paul Garwood	Neolithic Transmanche
12:45	Lunch
Bronze Age Connections
13:15	Registration/ Coffee
14:00	Mike Parker-Pearson or Alison Sheridan (tbc)	The Beaker People Project
14:40	To be confirmed	To be confirmed
15:20	Coffee
15:40	Richard Darrah	What building a large scale reconstruction tells us about Bronze Age Boat building
16:20	Marc Vander Linden & Leo Webley	British and Irish Prehistory in their European Context
17:00	Close
Sunday 20th October
Yesterday Today; engaging the public with research
09:45	Andrew Richardson	On the Cliff's Edge: Community Archaeology at Folkestone 2010-13
10:25	Graham Birrell & William Stow	It's not Henry VIII or Hitler: engaging children with the Bronze Age
11:05	Coffee
11:25	Roeland Paardekooper	Explaining Experimental Archaeology to the Public
12:05	Anne Lehoerff & Peter Clark	Boat 1550 BC: The dream and the reality
12:45	Close	